stateboards.ie operates under the auspices of the Public Appointments Service and is committed to a policy of equal opportunity.

The Public Appointments Service (PAS), established under statute in 2004, provides an independent shared service in recruitment, assessment and selection to organisations across the Civil and Public Services. On 30 September 2014, the Government decided that the PAS should also be given responsibility for putting in place an open, accessible, rigorous and transparent system to support Ministers in making appointments to State Boards. Our dedicated website, www.stateboards.ie, is the channel through which the PAS advertises vacancies on State Boards. It is also the means through which accomplished, experienced and qualified people, including people who might not previously have been identified as available for appointment, can then apply to be considered for particular vacancies.

Membership of State Boards

High standards of corporate governance in all State Agencies, whether in the commercial or non-commercial sphere, are critical to ensuring a positive contribution to the State's overall social and economic development.

Members of State Boards are appointed to act on behalf of the citizen to oversee the running of the affairs of state bodies. State bodies must serve the interests of the taxpayer, pursue value for money in their endeavours (including managing risk appropriately), and act transparently as public entities. Members of State Boards, and the relevant management team, are accountable for the proper management of the organisation.

Board members should act on a fully informed basis, in good faith, with due diligence and care, and in the best interest of the State body, subject to the objectives set by Government. In that regard and in accordance with 13.2 of the Guidelines on Appointments to State Boards, "it is advisable that no member of a State Board should serve more than two full terms of appointment or should hold appointments to more than two State Boards."

The Code of Practice for the Governance of State Bodies 2016 (the Code) provides a framework for the application of best practice in corporate governance by both commercial and non-commercial State bodies.

In order to be an effective contributor on a State Board it is recommended that members should:

- bring independent and objective scrutiny to the oversight of the organisation;
- be prepared to be challenging when necessary while being supportive to the delivery of organisational strategy and objectives;
- be equipped to offer considered advice on the basis of sound judgement and experience;
- be prepared to make a time commitment to their work commensurate with their role.

While established as a sub-board of the HEA, the Council is independent in its funding decisions and day-to-day activities, but operates within the agreed policy framework of the HEA and the Department of Education and Skills. All expenditure is subject to the standard operating procedures of the HEA.

The mission of the Irish Research Council is to enable and sustain a vibrant research community in Ireland and supports excellent researchers in all disciplines from Arts to Zoology. The Council makes individual awards across all disciplines and career stages. Diverse career opportunities are enabled through a suite of programmes which partner with employers. A key area of activity for the Council is the funding of research projects with a societal focus and has established partnerships across government and civic society.

The Council represents Ireland in particular dimensions of Horizon 2020 and, by providing supports for H2020 applicants, enhances opportunities for the Irish research community. The Council has a comprehensive programme for development over the coming years. This is aimed at further enhancing the infrastructure underpinning the professional development of the next generation of Ireland's top researchers, and supporting excellent research at all career stages, whilst also strengthening and expanding the Council's partnerships, nationally and internationally.

2. Functions of the Council

The Council's functions include –

- I. Funding excellent independent research within, and between, all disciplines covering the full range spanning the humanities, social sciences, business, law, sciences, engineering and technology. In doing so it enhances Ireland's international reputation as a centre for research and learning.
- II. Supporting human capital development, and in particular the education and skills of excellent individual early stage researchers and the cultivation of independent researchers and thinkers, whilst offering a range of opportunities which support diverse career paths.

- III. Enriching the pool of knowledge and expertise available and accessible for addressing Ireland's current and future needs, whether societal, cultural or economic by supporting excellent research and researchers. In delivering on this role, the Council partners with national and international bodies, and in particular with government departments, agencies, civic society and enterprise.
- IV. Providing policy advice on graduate education and research nationally and internationally, with particular attention be given to the arts, humanities and social sciences (AHSS).
- V. Approving the Council's annual work programmes, its award schemes and their terms and conditions.

The Council is supported by an Executive staff who provide the day-to-day operational capacity for the work of the Council.

Board members must be willing to, if required, conduct representational/expert roles on behalf of the Irish Research Council nationally or internationally.

The Council has a Framework for a Code of Business Conduct. This code sets out the agreed standard of principle and practice for conduct of members of the Irish Research Council and its Committees. The framework can be accessed here.
