State Boards.ie operates under the auspices of the Public Appointments Service and is committed to a policy of equal opportunity.

The Public Appointments Service (PAS), established under statute in 2004, provides an independent shared service in recruitment, assessment and selection to organisations across the Civil and Public Services. On 30 September 2014, the Government decided that the PAS should also be given responsibility for putting in place an open, accessible, rigorous and transparent system to support Ministers in making appointments to State Boards. Our dedicated website, www.stateboards.ie, is the channel through which the PAS advertises vacancies on State Boards. It is also the means through which accomplished, experienced and qualified people, including people who might not previously have been identified as available for appointment, can then apply to be considered for particular vacancies.

Membership of State Boards

High standards of corporate governance in all State Agencies, whether in the commercial or non-commercial sphere, are critical to ensuring a positive contribution to the State's overall social and economic development.

Members of State Boards are appointed to act on behalf of the citizen to oversee the running of the affairs of state bodies. State bodies must serve the interests of the taxpayer, pursue value for money in their endeavours (including managing risk appropriately), and act transparently as public entities. Members of State Boards, and the relevant management team, are accountable for the proper management of the organisation.

Board members should act on a fully informed basis, in good faith, with due diligence and care, and in the best interest of the State body, subject to the objectives set by Government. In that regard and in accordance with 13.2 of the Guidelines on Appointments to State Boards, "it is advisable that no member of a State Board should serve more than two full terms of appointment or should hold appointments to more than two State Boards."

The Code of Practice for the Governance of State Bodies provides a framework for the application of best practice in corporate governance by both commercial and non-commercial State bodies.

In order to be an effective contributor on a State Board it is recommended that members should:

- bring independent and objective scrutiny to the oversight of the organisation;
- be prepared to be challenging when necessary while being supportive to the delivery of organisational strategy and objectives;
- be equipped to offer considered advice on the basis of sound judgement and experience;
- be prepared to make a time commitment to their work commensurate with their role.

About the Galway-Mayo Institute of Technology

The Galway-Mayo Institute of Technology (GMIT) is one of the 14 Institutes of Technology (IOTs) in the State operating under the Institutes of Technology Acts 1992 to 2006. GMIT is designated as a higher education institution under the Higher Education Authority (www.heai.ie) and receives its funding through the HEA.

GMIT first opened in 1972 as the Regional Technical College, Galway. In 1998, the Regional Technical College Galway (RTC), was legally designated an Institute of Technology and renamed the Galway-Mayo Institute of Technology (GMIT).

GMIT is based at five locations in the west of Ireland - two in Galway city (Galway Campus and Centre for Creative Arts & Media), two in County Galway (Letterfrack and Mountbellew) and one in County Mayo (Castlebar Campus).

The Institute currently has approximately 5,600 full & part-time students, employing over 650 staff. It has an Annual Budget of approximately €54m.

Additional Background Information:

Technological Universities

The current Programme for Government outlines that this new Government will continue to support the creation of Technological Universities. The development of Technological Universities is in line with the National Strategy for Higher Education to 2030 which provides a framework for the development of the higher education sector to 2030.

With regard to the Institute of Technology sector, the Strategy recommended significant reforms to position the sector to meet national strategic objectives. In particular, the Strategy recommended consolidation within the sector and a pathway of evolution for those consolidated institutes of technology, to allow them to demonstrate significant progress against robust performance criteria and to apply to become technological universities.

Consortiums who have applied:

As part of the implementation of the Strategy, the Higher Education Authority in 2012 published a four-stage process and criteria for applicant groups of institutes of technology wishing to apply to become technological universities.

There are currently four consortia engaged with the process to become designated as Technological Universities. These are:

1. TU4Dublin (Dublin Institute of Technology, Institute of Technology Tallaght, Institute of Technology Blanchardstown);
2. Technological University for the South-East (TUSE – consisting of Waterford Institute of Technology and Institute of Technology Carlow)
3. Munster Technological University (MTU – consisting of Cork Institute of Technology and Institute of Technology Tralee)
4. Connacht Ulster Alliance (CUA – consisting of Galway-Mayo Institute of Technology, Institute of Technology Sligo and Letterkenny Institute of Technology).

At the end of 2014, two consortia successfully passed stage 3 of the four-stage process. These are the TU4Dublin consortium and the Munster Technological University consortium. Enactment of the Technological Universities (TU) Bill, which is currently at Committee Stage in the Dáil, would enable these projects to proceed with legal merger and move to the final stage for application for designation as a Technological University.

In early 2015 the Connacht-Ulster Alliance also expressed an interest in merging and in applying to become a technological university. This application was approved to proceed to the next stage. In line with the process for designation as a Technological University, Stage 2 of this process involves the preparation of a plan by the Connacht-Ulster Alliance, to meet the criteria for designation as a Technological University.

Governance Reform:

The National Strategy also recommended that the governance structures of all higher education institutions should be reformed to ensure that they are fit for purpose and have the expertise relevant to the governance of a modern higher education institution.

Best International practice, is for the governing authorities of higher education institutions to be smaller and more effective, and for a competency-based approach to be taken when appointing governing body members.

These recommendations may give rise to changes in the membership of the boards of Institutes of Technology and/or Technological Universities in due course. Any changes to the composition of boards will require legislative change.

Functions of the Governing Body:

The functions of the Governing Body of an Institute of Technology are as outlined in section 7 of the Institutes of Technology Acts 1992 to 2006 which can be viewed here.
