stateboards.ie operates under the auspices of the Public Appointments Service and is committed to a policy of equal opportunity.

The Public Appointments Service (PAS), established under statute in 2004, provides an independent shared service in recruitment, assessment and selection to organisations across the Civil and Public Services. On 30 September 2014, the Government decided that the PAS should also be given responsibility for putting in place an open, accessible, rigorous and transparent system to support Ministers in making appointments to State Boards. Our dedicated website, www.stateboards.ie, is the channel through which the PAS advertises vacancies on State Boards. It is also the means through which accomplished, experienced and qualified people, including people who might not previously have been identified as available for appointment, can then apply to be considered for particular vacancies.

Membership of State Boards

High standards of corporate governance in all State Agencies, whether in the commercial or non-commercial sphere, are critical to ensuring a positive contribution to the State's overall social and economic development.

Members of State Boards are appointed to act on behalf of the citizen to oversee the running of the affairs of state bodies. State bodies must serve the interests of the taxpayer, pursue value for money in their endeavours (including managing risk appropriately), and act transparently as public entities. Members of State Boards, and the relevant management team, are accountable for the proper management of the organisation.

Board members should act on a fully informed basis, in good faith, with due diligence and care, and in the best interest of the State body, subject to the objectives set by Government. In that regard and in accordance with 13.2 of the Guidelines on Appointments to State Boards, "it is advisable that no member of a State Board should serve more than two full terms of appointment or should hold appointments to more than two State Boards."

The Code of Practice for the Governance of State Bodies (The Code) provides a framework for the application of best practice in corporate governance by both commercial and non-commercial State bodies.

The role of the Chairperson of a State Board is set out in Chapter 2 of the Code of Practice and the role of members is set out in Chapter 3.

1. Background

The establishment of Hospital Groups was committed to in Future Health: A Strategic Framework for Reform of the Health Service 2012-2015 and represents one of the most significant changes in Irish healthcare in many years. The objective of each Group is to improve services and provide better outcomes for patients and specifically to:

- consistently deliver the highest standard of patient safety and quality in hospital care across the group;
- deliver cost effective hospital care in a timely and sustainable manner;
- encourage and support clinical and managerial leadership;
- ensure a skilled and competent workforce by recruiting and retaining high quality nurses, Non Consultant Hospital Doctors, consultants, allied health professionals and administrators; and
- ensure high standards of clinical and corporate governance.

Seven Hospital Groups have been established in line with the Government’s programme for reform of the health service, initially on a non-statutory administrative basis.

The establishment of Hospital Groups is a key element of the reform of the health service in Ireland and the leadership skills, knowledge and experience that the members of the Hospital Group Board bring to this important role are invaluable to the success of this initiative.

The implementation of Hospital Groups is progressing in a phased manner, which will provide for devolved decision-making, fostering flexibility, innovation and local responsiveness, while also adhering to prescribed national service objectives and standards. Hospitals are now working together to support each other to provide a stronger role for smaller hospitals in delivering less complex care and ensuring that patients who require true emergency or complex planned care are managed safely in larger hospitals.

Significant progress has been made in the implementation of the Dublin Midlands Hospital Group to progress from operating as disparate individual hospitals towards an integrated group with a more co-ordinated approach to the planning and delivery of services across all the hospitals within the group.
